

LA FOLLETTE AND HIS CONVENTION

Madison Making Ready for Wednesday's Proceedings.

TALK IS NOW RIFE

The Famed Manifesto Creates Much Sentiment Against the Governor.

SLATE IS MADE UP

Madison is all on tip-toe in preparation for the coming state convention. Candidates and delegates are already on the scene of action and whispered conferences are frequent and lasting. Walter L. Hauser of Mondovi, candidate for secretary of state is the first candidate to open his headquarters at the Park Hotel. The rest will follow today or early tomorrow morning.

LaFollette men are predominant. Few stalwarts except the Madison members of that branch of the party are seen on the streets. Strange to say the Conservative element of Madison itself seems to be greater than the LaFollette. That is the republicans who have been known as republicans for years past. The recent acquisition to the party, the "fair minded Democrats," do not say much more than their work is done and their part in electing LaFollette delegates is over. Now these so called "fair-minded Democrats" are planning for their own party nominations and campaign.

The One Topic
The one topic of conversation, whether the man be Republican or Democrat, is Spooner and LaFollette's recent actions. The town people of Madison are proud of Senator Spooner. They have been fooled into the belief that LaFollette was not after his scalp. They thought that he only wanted to control state affairs and would not meddle with senatorial affairs. The manifesto of Saturday has dispelled all such illusions and now they are surprised and hurt. Should the caucuses have been held today instead of when they were, LaFollette could not carry a single ward in the city, so intense is the feeling that he has run the knife into Senator Spooner.

LaFollette Conference
There was a conference at the capitol yesterday. Lush was down from LaCrosse, host from Milwaukee, Hauser from Mondovi, Senator McGillivray from Black River Falls and Senator Miller from Madison with others met in the Governor's office and held a long consultation.

A hurry call was sent for Jerome Murphy late in the afternoon and he and Lush hastened to the office to join in the council of war. General Bryant, LaFollette's veteran manager, it is said, is not pleased with the manifesto issued, but that his voice in the matter has been overlooked. It appears to be LaFollette and his way or not at all.

Slate Made
It is a well-known fact in political circles that the slate has already been made up and that the entire ticket will be composed of LaFollette sympathizers. During the past two years the office of secretary of state, Froelich, and Railway Commissioner, Rice, have been eyesores to the LaFollette crowd. This they want to do away with. They want the whole list of the state officers to be LaFollette men who will bow and will be subservient to the will of the Governor.

Ticket As Made
Governor—R. M. LaFollette, Madison.
Lieutenant Governor—J. O. Davidson, Soldiers' Grove, now state treasurer.
Secretary of State—Walter L. Hauser, Mondovi.
State Treasurer—J. G. End, Sheboygan.
Insurance Commissioner—Zeno M. Host, Milwaukee.
Attorney General—L. M. Sturtevant, Neillsville.
Superintendent of Public Instruction—L. D. Harvey, Milwaukee, re-nominated.

Railroad Commissioner—Doubtful, possibly Graham L. Rice, of Superior, the present incumbent.

Who Will Nominate
Herb Chynoweth, of Madison, a classmate of LaFollette's and bosom friend of the chief executive, will make the nominating speech. He will eulogize upon the great work done by the Madison reformer, the glorious future in store for Wisconsin, for its citizens when the Stevens Bill becomes a law and the LaFollette machine can control the state. He will dwell upon the personal character of the man and will pay just tribute to the Wisconsin politician who has risen from a farmer's boy and in the face of all opposition has formed a machine whose like has never been equaled in the state and who now seeks to control the destiny of the whole republican party in Wisconsin.

Madison Ready
Madison itself is ready for the convention. Mayor Groves and President Gaper of the Forty Thousand Club are busy as bees making last plans. Col. Anderson and his secretary, Dick Conley, have lists of any number of rooms available for delegates or strangers, should they wish to stay over. Streets and yards have been cleaned. The grass in the capital park is cut, the trees trimmed and band stands erected. Will Have A Dirge

The Milwaukee Sentinel has erected a band stand on Carroll street and here the Milwaukee Sentinel band will play soft low music while the convention is putting the finishing touches to placing the necks of the Republican party in the noose at the University Gymnasium.

Gymnasium Ready
General Bryant and Zeno Host of Milwaukee have gone over the large hall of the gymnasium again and again to see if some more space cannot be utilized. They have arranged for the telegraph companies, arranged for the accommodation of the news paper correspondents. A large crowd was expected. Thousands who would have come are now deciding to stay away. They have cancelled the orders for rooms and intended to stay at home and when the ticket is handed them next fall they will vote—just how, many will not say.

Democrats Jubilant
The leading Democrats of Madison and of the state at large are jubilant. They see the clouds breaking for a Democratic victory. They are rubbing their hands in glee over the noted manifesto. Now is their chance and from all indications the party will be united and a Democratic nominee for Governor put up that will draw the votes.

Who Want Offices
The following is a list of the aspirants after honors on the state ticket:

Governor—R. M. LaFollette, John A. Whitehead.
Lieutenant Governor—J. O. Davidson, (now state treasurer). Should for any reason, another be preferred, it might be Senator Hutton of Waupaca, a LaFollette upholder, but not an offensive partisan.
State Treasurer—J. G. End, German, Sheboygan, banker, (LaFollette man). Ex-Senator J. J. Kempf, Milwaukee, (also a LaFollette lieutenant). John F. Jardine, Waupaca, (neutral). Col. Leander Ferguson, merchant, Brandon, (war veteran). Clauson, Bayfield, Insurance man. Meyer, Grand county, banker, St. Vart.

Secretary of State—Walter L. Hauser, Mondovi, editor, clerk of senate; very close friend of Gov. LaFollette. Rock J. Flint, editor of Menominee, Dunn county, war veteran, Stalwart leanings. Hy. P. Schmidt, assistant secretary of state. Joseph L. Farr, Phillips, timber agent, Spooner man.

Brodwell, Sparta.

Encouraged by the support of the teamsters, the freight handlers returned to their original demands. Committees went from the headquarters this morning at 8 o'clock to all the railroad in the hope of making a settlement. CANDIDATES ARE ALL ASSEMBLING

Talk of LaFollette Slate Is Rife—Caucus Tonight on Senator Spooner.

Madison, Wis., July 14.—(Special.)—Nearly all the candidates for places on the Republican state ticket have now arrived and opened headquarters. Most of the delegates will be here tonight. A caucus of the LaFollette delegates will be held this evening, at which the question of endorsing Senator Spooner for re-election will be the main topic of discussion, and an effort made to unite, it being conceded that the LaFollette men are badly split up on the proposition.

More talk of a slate for all offices below Governor is heard on all sides today but there is strong evidence it has its basis in the effort of a body of self-constituted slate-makers among the Governor's friends. In behalf of certain candidates. It is known that the governor refused absolutely to talk with one of the slate-makers on the proposition.

The other principal contest will be over the treasurership with the chances in favor of Jos. G. End of Sheboygan.

GEN. BRAGG'S LETTER MAY CAUSE RECALL

Missive to His Wife Likely to Arouse the Resentment of the Cubans.

Washington, July 14.—Gen Bragg's indiscreet utterance in his letter to his wife is likely to cost him his place as consul general to Cuba. It is said by diplomatic people here that the use of a pig's tail as a part of a simile expressive of the consul general's views is likely to give great offense to the people of Cuba. In fact, the Spanish idiom lend themselves especially to the use of the pig as an epithet of reproach, and to say, as Gen. Bragg is reported as saying, that "it would be easier to make a whistle out of a pig's tail than to make anything out of the Cubans," means even more in Spanish than in English.

Senator Quesada has declined to comment upon Consul General Bragg's slurring allusion to the Cubans. The new minister is cautious and gives out no statements until he has first communicated with President Palma. The impression prevails that Gen. Bragg's utterance will certainly render him persona non grata to the Cuban government.

REV. R. M. VAUGHAN ON AGNOSTICISM

THE EMPTINESS OF UNBELIEF

Pastor of the Baptist Church Gives Logical Arguments Proving Certainties of Religion.

Warm weather and vacation season have not yet materially affected the congregations at the Sunday morning church services and Rev. Richard M. Vaughan was heard by his customary large audience yesterday morning when he repeated, by request, his masterly sermon on "Agnosticism," which he originally delivered on a very stormy evening a short time ago.

As his text Rev. Vaughan chose a part of the ninth verse of the thirteenth chapter of Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians, "For we know in part." His sermon was logical, showing careful thought and deep research and it was eloquent and convincing. Rev. Vaughan held the undivided attention of his congregation and at the close of the service the sermon was freely discussed and highly commended.

A Masterly Sermon
In his introduction Rev. Vaughan explained concisely the position of the agnostic. The current form of unbelief is agnosticism. The word means no knowledge and the agnostic neither affirms nor denies. He simply says that he does not know and that it is impossible for anyone to know anything concerning an eternal God. But it is only in relation to spiritual things that the agnostic is unable to know. There are some things of which he is very sure. Concerning physical phenomenon and material facts he is a positivist. It is quite possible for him to know all about the extinct animals and conditions of pre-historic times but it is impossible for him to know anything of the God who made them.

Destructive Unbelief
This attitude of uncertainty is especially sad because it cuts the nerve of all endeavor. This mere negative attitude toward life, the not knowing of anything about the great problems is emptiness and accomplishes nothing. The effect of agnosticism on society as well as on the individual is disastrous. History shows that all efforts of man founded on belief have been successful while all efforts founded on unbelief are soon forgotten because they are barren of results.

Truth in Agnosticism
There are elements of truth in agnosticism as there are in every other. It is a legitimate protest against theological omniscience. There are men who assume to know everything regarding spiritual things but there are many things which men do not know. It is well that it is so. It is well to have an insoluble mystery to ponder on. Men realize too little that love is an essential part of religion. God is discerned in awe and mystery. He is revealed to men more in the night than in the day. Mystery can minister to man's knowledge and reverence of God.

A Dangerous Doctrine
But agnosticism is an utter denial of knowledge and as such it is a dangerous and pervasive falsehood. Paul says, "We know in part," but it is important to notice that he says, "We know." The knowledge may be limited, but it is knowledge and it is sufficient for the present.

Proofs of Religion
There are many things which prove the certainties of religion, chief among them being man's intuitions, his experiences and the facts of history. Intuitions are direct and native knowledge. God has endowed human souls with many things which do not have to be learned. There are things which men know not by the line of reason but because they are woven into the very fabric of the soul. The conception of numbers is intuitive knowledge. How do men know that two and two make four and that three is more than two? How can they be certain that cause and effect are inseparable and that there are such things as time and space? They are things which cannot be reasoned out. God has written them into the substance of men's souls, they belong to the nature of things.

Self Knowledge
Man's first intuition is his knowledge of his personal existence. He alone has the power to hold himself off at arm's length and know that he is a living being. A tree does not know that it is a tree. A dog does not know that it is a dog. If it did it would cease being a dog and become a man. Man alone has the power to think and concept. This self knowledge is fraught with great things for the man who thinks, who can analyze his own life and realize his dependence on God, can construct the entire religious system.

Inborn Knowledge of God
Intuition gives God to man. The fact that science is possible today is proof that the universe was thought out intelligently. The knowledge of God is native to the soul. When Helen Keller, the wonderful deaf, dumb and blind girl was told of God for the first time and of what he had done for the world she said: "Why, I knew that all the time, but I never knew the name."

Duty and Immortality
Another intuition is duty. The feeling "I ought" is not imported into the soul but dwells there from the first. So long as a man is true to his duty he will surely be led into a larger truth. God damns no man for his honest opinions. Men are damned by sin. But conscientious living is a fruit and it must have branches, a trunk and roots buried in nutritious soil. Man should bury his life deep into the fellowship of God and breathe the life eternal. Immortality is another intuition. The desire for immortality proves its existence, if the world is consistent.

ent. Just as food has been put in the world for appetites God will satisfy the desire for immortality which he has put in men's souls.

Truth Through Experience
Another source of the certainty of religion is found in man's spiritual experiences. They are just as much facts as material things. A thought is as real as a cannon ball and spiritual thoughts are facts as much as electric currents. Experience is a personal piece of property and there are two items in it which constitute certain knowledge. These elements of experience are a sense of moral unworthiness and the experience of forgiveness.

History Proves Religion
The essential facts of history also prove the certainty of religion. The man who says that he does not see, believe anything that he does not see, is a simpleton. He knows there are cities which he has not seen and he knows there was a Revolutionary war though he was not present at it. Men may have knowledge of the past through the testimony of others. In accepting this testimony two things must be considered—the character of the witnesses and whether the testimony is self-consistent in the major details. Slight differences in minor details may only add to the value of the testimony as it shows absence of collusion. There is a hopeless difference of opinion regarding minor details of the battle of Waterloo yet no one doubts the major facts because of this.

Bible Will Prove Itself
The man who thinks that he discovers discrepancies in the Scriptures and would throw them in the waste basket is guilty of illogic. The same tests should be applied to it as to other books of history and it will prove itself. One of the best tests are the consequences of the events. If men had no scrap of writing concerning the Revolutionary war they would know that there was such a war because they are a free people and see the consequences of that war in their everyday life. There is something back of the Christianity of today and because of the consequences men may be confident of the birth of Jesus Christ, his ministry, the appointment of his disciples, his pure life, his unmerited death and his resurrection.

Fuller Knowledge
There are some things that man may know, his own soul, God, duty, forgiveness, Jesus, the Savior and Lord.

That knowledge will increase more and more. The night of partial knowledge shall pass away and in His Presence man shall see light.

Fine Music
A pleasing feature of the service was the singing by the boys' choir which occupied the rear gallery. They sang, "Light and Light Forever" very prettily. Two anthems, "O Lord, Thou Art My Strength" by Godard and "Abide With Me" were beautifully rendered by the quartet consisting of Miss Edith Maltress, Miss Elizabeth Palmer, E. E. Van Pool and J. S. Taylor. Miss Elva Crawford presided at the organ.

ATHLETIC SHOW TOMORROW NIGHT

All Scheduled Events Will Be for a Decision, and Promise To Be Very Exciting.

Judging from the excellent boxing and wrestling bill scheduled at the Myers Grand tomorrow evening, there should be a crowded house.

Scotell at 150 pounds is the champion catch-as-catch-can, wrestler of the Northwest and his work with Curtiss of West Superior will undoubtedly in itself be worth the price of admission as both men will weigh in at equal weights and it will be the best three out of five falls.

The first boxing bout will be between local lights and will be of a warm, interesting character.

The boxing event of the evening will be between Kelley of Chicago and Walright of Chicago. This match will be for a decision and if at the end of the six rounds the referee awards a tie it will mean six more rounds.

The show as a whole is the very best to be obtained at popular prices.

Last month Schott gave an excellent exhibition with The Terrible Turk working against big odds. The sale of seats opens tomorrow morning.

SIN, DEATH AND A LIFE ETERNAL

REMARKABLE SUNDAY SERMON

Rev. James Churm Takes for His Subject, "The Wages of Sin."

The Court House park was well filled with listeners at the Union service held Sunday night by the united Protestant churches of the city. Others who walked about during the evening stopped from time to time to catch a few words of the address of the evening which was given by Rev. Churm of the First M. E. church.

The service opened by a short song service the accompaniment of which was furnished by a brass quartet, and included a song by the Y. M. C. A. quartette. Rev. Tippet of the Court Street M. E. church led in prayer with a special plea that the hour might be one of devotion for all who were present. The Scripture passage which was from the sixth chapter of Romans, was read by Rev. Churm.

Logic of Romans
His text was taken from the last verse of that chapter, "For the Wages of Sin is Death; But the Gift of God is Eternal Life Through Christ Jesus." This verse, the speaker said, was taken from one chapter of a letter which is a masterpiece in the clearness and force of its logic. It was written by Paul to a people who whether they followed it or not could not have failed of catching its meaning.

Direct Today
In the same way it is lucid to us. Anyone of an average degree of intelligence and the slightest observation of the words of the verse cannot fail of grasping the exact meaning of the words which Paul addressed to the Romans. It is direct, it is definite and it is unmistakably accurate. It is easy to see that sin is expensive. It leads to definite results, and the results are costly. The suffering that is brought comes upon us both in this world and in the next and if it is at times delayed the retribution is none the less assured.

Sin Defined
We learn from this exactly what sin is, what it can and does do. According to a catechetical definition, sin is a transgression from an established law. But sin does not usually present itself as a transgression. It more often presents specious excuses for its commission and bright promises of happiness to directly follow the act. But although it represents itself as giving a great deal it invariably falls in its promise. What it actually gives is small indeed.

Working-Out of Law
We can see many samples of the working out of this law in the book of life. Our first parents when they were tempted said in their resistance to the voice, that warned them against their course, "We will be as God, knowing good from evil." Not only did they not attain the knowledge that they expected, but they were cast from the garden in which they had lived happily together and were forced to labor for their sustenance by the sweat of their brows.

Robs Of Character
The same rule of cause and effect holds good today. In the same way does a sin present a fair appearance and attractive promises and in the same way does it fall the one who has committed the sin and robs men and women of their characters, one of the most precious of their possessions and which can be very unprofitably given up. God only can present the means to fight this sin.

Omnipresence of Law
We are living under law and the law is inexorable. It is everywhere and its consequences cannot be avoided. Absalom sinned and the vengeance of the Lord came upon him swift and sure. The ten commandments read plainly and he who sins against one often sins against all.

Judas and His Sin
Judas followed the Lord for mercenary purposes. When the awful consequences were weighing him down he went to the priests in agony and begged them to take back the silver with which they bought him, but they disclaimed all interest or responsibility in the bargain which he made, whereat Judas went out and hanged himself. In this case the text was literally fulfilled.

Ruin of Great Cities
The ruin of Greece and Rome, the ruin of the great and flourishing city of Ephesus can be directly traced to the iniquities of the people, to their departure from the established law in the hope of pleasant gain therefrom.

Reward of God
There is another side to this text. The price that will be paid to him who abides by the law of eternal life. This reward is the pardon, peace, sanctification, and in the end Heaven comes to those who are ready to receive the gift of God.

Direct Appeal
The address was closed by an appeal to those who were within the sound of the speaker's voice. Some of them, it might be, were flitting away their lives in sin when they might be taking advantage of their God-given powers and receiving the gift of God. "Ye must be born again and become as little children." We all must die, it matter not when or how. The essential thing is readiness. The one point of supreme importance is this consideration as it has been simply stated by Paul; on the one side there is the life of unrepented sin, and the wages of death; on the other eternal life as the reward of a life of faithful, devoted observance of the laws of the Almighty.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

St. Patrick's Church Will Pay Last
Tribute to Father Collins
One Tuesday evening the members of St. Patrick's church will tender a farewell reception to Father J. J. Collins, who will leave this week for North Fond du Lac to take charge of a newly established parish at that place.

The reception will be at Assembly hall from 8:30 to 10. A program of short talks and musical numbers has been arranged. St. Patrick's choir and Smith's orchestra will be on hand to take care of the musical part of the program. Light refreshments will also be served and every effort will be made to make the evening one that will long be remembered by Father Collins. The fact that he is about to leave Janesville has caused much regret among the church members.

Detective Flynn a Former Janesville
Resident Talks of Chicago Strike.

Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn of Chicago are the guest at the home of Mr. William Kelley, 258 South Franklin street. Both Mr. and Mrs. Flynn are old residents of Janesville, Mrs. Flynn being formerly Miss Mary Clonin. Mr. Flynn was born just outside of the city and later removed to Chicago. He is at present one of that city's most trusted detectives and for years past has been stationed at the city hall detective department. At present he is detailed on the strike and said that before the trouble was over he expected to see bloodshed. The strike of the teamsters has placed the freight handlers in a much more advantageous position than hitherto. Mr. Flynn also served on the Chicago force during the Haymarket troubles and the railway strike of '94. He returned to Chicago this noon having been called back by orders but his wife will remain a day or two longer.

TALK OF NEW FACTORY

Shoe Concern May Locate in Janesville Soon

G. E. Newman, of Rochester, Ind., who has been visiting in this vicinity for some time, has been looking for a location for a shoe factory now owned and operated by himself at Rochester, Ind. The factory manufactures medium priced goods and turns out about 1,000 pairs of shoes a day. It employs about 250 hands and would be a great benefit to this city.

He looked over the numerous sites that were offered him and was quite favorably impressed with some of them. He will investigate the matter more fully and may make some definite arrangements to move to this city.

SIR LIANG CHENG SUCCEEDS WU

New Chinese Minister Will Take His Place in the Fall.

Pekin, July 14.—Sir Liang Cheng, formerly secretary to Minister Chang Yen Huang, who was beheaded in 1900 after being exiled to Turkestan, has been appointed Chinese minister to the United States in succession to Wu Ting Fang.

The new minister is at present secretary of the coronation embassy in England. He probably will remain in London for the postponed ceremonies and not go to Washington until the fall or winter, especially as the president will be away until October.

New ministers to Russia, France, and Italy have also been named. The selections for these posts show that the dowager empress continues to regard the diplomatic service as unimportant. None of the appointees is of higher than the blue station rank, and none has held any important office.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 14.—The anthracite delegates to the national convention Sunday obtained their last instructions from their locals, and will start for Indianapolis on Tuesday.
From what is learned it is apparent
the desire for a national strike, almost unanimous during the early weeks of the present strike, has given way entirely to the belief that the best plan will be to have the soft-coal men remain at work and contribute a weekly fund to the anthracite strikers.
Reports from the soft-coal districts and the soft-coal men who have visited here make it so apparent that they are violently opposed to a strike that insistence upon a national suspension of work would create such ill feeling that a split in the union would not be unlikely.

Would Split Union.
If a national suspension was declared against the wishes of the soft-coal men, it is altogether probable that the men working under contract would detach themselves from the noncontract soft and anthracite miners, and create a union of their own.

This knowledge and the belief that a strike fund would be as efficient in maintaining the strike as a national suspension, has won a majority of the anthracite men to the position of favoring the plan.

In the event of a strike fund being given the anthracite men weekly, the expected move of the operators to resume work at the collieries would occur.

Not Ready to Resume.
The number of applicants increases every day. Several old miners waited upon one of the company's superintendents here and asked if it were possible to get any local concessions at the mines where they have worked.
They were told that they were not employees, and the company would treat with none but its employees, and would consider any grievances they have. The men then asked if there was work for them, and were told that there was not until there were enough applicants to warrant an attempt to start work.

Mine Workers of District No. 2 Are Conservative.

Altoona, Pa., July 14.—Reports from all the subdistricts of district No. 2, United Mine Workers, show that the delegates elected to the national convention from this field are uninstructed as regards voting for a general sympathy strike. All of the eight men chosen are conservative miners, selected especially to avoid, if possible, bringing the central bituminous field into a sympathy strike. The delegates will urge the convention to donate a day's pay weekly to the anthracite men, permitting the bituminous miners to continue at work. The soft coal miners in this field are now earning good wages by reason of the full supply of cars available and the enormous demand for coal.

HOTEL AT DELAVAN IS BURNED

Lakeside Destroyed as No Means of Fighting Fire Is at Hand.

Delavan, Wis., July 14.—The Lakeside hotel at Delavan was destroyed by fire, together with all its contents.
The fire originated in the kitchen, and as there was no means for quenching it it spread rapidly.

The place was known as Irvingwood until it was bought about three years ago by the late Thomas H. Farrell of Chicago, who renamed it Lakeside.
It was managed this season by W. J.
Farrell and O. J. Allison of Chicago.
The loss is about $5,000. Many guests and servants lost their clothing and jewelry and Mr. Allison lost valuable papers.

Two cottages belonging to the Log Cabin, an adjacent resort, owned by Gene B. and Roy E. Hollister, were also burned, the loss being $1,500.

EXPORTS OF CORN
SHOW BIG DROP

Shipments to Foreign Ports
Decrease 150,000,000
Bushels

TOTAL REDUCTION, $67,000,000

Oats and Oatmeal Fall Off, as Do
Beef and Cotton—Trade in Live Cattle for 1902 was 319,000, Compared With 401,000 in 1901.

Washington, July 14.—It is now practicable to determine the effect of the drought of 1901 upon the export trade of 1902. The most marked reduction, of course, is on corn, which was most largely affected by the drought of 1901. The exportation of corn at the principal ports shown by the preliminary report of the bureau of statistics amounts to 26,000,000 bushels in the fiscal year ending on June 30, 1902, against 176,000,000 at the same ports in the preceding year,
the value for 1902 being $16,000,000, against $82,000,000 in the preceding year, a reduction of $66,000,000.

Export Figures.

The complete figures will probably show total exports at about 27,000,000 bushels, against 181,000,000 in the preceding year. Exportations of corn meal have also fallen from $2,000,000 in 1901 to $1,000,000 in 1902, making the total reduction in corn exports in round terms, as shown by the preliminary figures, $67,000,000. Compared with the fiscal year 1900 the reduction is still greater. The corn exports of the fiscal year 1900 were the largest in the history of the export trade, having amounted to 213,123,312 bushels, while for the year just ended the complete figures will amount to about 27,000,000 bushels.

Oats Fall Off.

But the effect of the drought upon the export trade did not stop with corn, though in this item it is most largely apparent. The reduction in the quantity of corn available for live stock naturally increased the consumption of oats, and as a result the exportation of oats fell off from 37-000,000 bushels in the fiscal year 1901 to 10,000,000 bushels in 1902, and the value from about $12,000,000 in 1901 to $4,000,000 in 1902. In oatmeal, exportations fell from 90,000,000 pounds in 1901 to 59,000,000 pounds in 1902, while the value fell from $2,250,000 in 1901 to a little over $1,500,000 in 1902.
Thus the reduction in value of the exports of breadstuffs clearly traceable to the drought was: Corn and cornmeal, $67,000,000; oats and oatmeal, $8,000,000; total, $75,000,000.

Other Exports.

Two other marked reductions in the exportation of products of agriculture are beef, including live cattle, and cotton. The exportation of live cattle has fallen from 401,000 in 1901 to 319-000 in 1902; the exportation of fresh beef from 350,000,000 pounds in 1901 to 300,000,000 pounds in 1902, and the total value of cattle and beef products
has fallen from $80,000,000 in 1901 to $69,000,000 in 1902, a loss of $11,000-000. In cotton the reduction is wholly due to the reduced price, the quantity exported for the year being 160,000-000 pounds greater than in the preceding year, while the value was $23-000,000 less than the preceding year.

ARCHBISHOP FEEHAN IS DEAD

Noted Head of Chicago Diocese Passes
Away at His Residence.

Chicago, July 14.—Patrick A. Fee-
han, archbishop of the Roman Catholic province of Chicago, died at the episcopal residence, North State street and North avenue, a little after 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. His sister, Mother Catherine Feehan, head
of St. Patrick's academy, and Francis
J. Barry, chancellor of the archdiocese, were with him when he breathed
his last.

Death is ascribed to heart failure,
caused by an acute attack of indigestion. More than a year ago the archbishop, then 72 years old, had a severe attack of pneumonia, which left
his heart in a much weakened condition. Since then he has been feeble,
although no fears of a sudden ending
have been felt by his subordinates.
He has, however, been much in the house, and his work has been lightened for him as far as possible.

EASY

when you are well, to

when the back aches
and the head throbs,
a woman's work is hourly torment.

No woman can be strong and healthy of body who is the victim of those womanly diseases which are often responsible for feminine sufferings.
Women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of diseases of the womanly organs, say that work doesn't tire them any more. "Favorite Prescription" regulates the periods, drives enfeebling damps, head inflammation and neuralgia, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," neither opium, cocaine or any other narcotic.
"I had poor health for nine years (ever since the birth of my child)," writes Mrs. Armitie Watkins, of Acme, Kanawha Co., W. Va. "Had female weakness, was very irregular and would suffer untold misery. Our family doctor did not do me any good, and I concluded to write to you.
When I wrote I had no idea that I would ever get well, but when your letter reached me I began to have hope. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicines at directed and began to improve in strength. I was soon able to do the work for my family of six. I think there never were such medicines in the world. I took eight bottles, three of "Favorite Prescription" and five of "Golden Medical Discovery" and two vials of "Pellets."

ARCHBISHOP FEEHAN IS DEAD

Noted Head of Chicago Diocese Passes
Away at His Residence.

Chicago, July 14.—Patrick A. Fee-
han, archbishop of the Roman Catholic province of Chicago, died at the episcopal residence, North State
street and North avenue, a little after
1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. His sister, Mother Catherine Feehan, head
of St. Patrick's academy, and Francis
J. Barry, chancellor of the archdiocese, were with him when he breathed
his last.

Death is ascribed to heart failure,
caused by an acute attack of indigestion. More than a year ago the archbishop, then 72 years old, had a severe attack of pneumonia, which left
his heart in a much weakened condition. Since then he has been feeble,
although no fears of a sudden ending
have been felt by his subordinates.
He has, however, been much in the house, and his work has been light-
ened for him as far as possible.

BACHELORS WILL PLAY BENEDICTS

TOMORROW AT GOLF LINKS

Afternoon's Program Also Includes
Final Match for the Richardson Trophy—Schaller vs. Tallman.

On tomorrow afternoon at the Sinsissippi golf links there will be the most notable and interesting event of the golfing season, a match game between the married men and the single men of the club. Both teams are determined to win, not only for the sake of preserving their individual reputations as golfers, but above all to defend the superior advantages of their position in regard to the matrimonial question.

The married men are positive of gaining the victory and say that their rivals haven't a ghost of a show. They claim that every advantage is with them. On the golf links they have easily vanquished their wifeless opponents in days gone by, according to their version of the story, and all through life they have been ten strikers. They early proved their winning ways with the women and walked away with the prizes in the matrimonial market.

Expert Opinion
The Benedicts further assert that they do not base their certainty of victory on their own knowledge of the golfing ability of their opponents. They have confidentially interviewed the young ladies of the city, who are in a position to speak authoritatively and these fair females admit reluctantly that the single men are especially backward when it comes to "long drives" and that they are very poor at "approaching," at least so far as certain subjects are concerned. Some of the young women have even gone so far as to vindictively assert that if "greens" were the only essential of the game of golf, the married men would have no earthly chance of winning. This encourages the married men to pat each other on the back for they believe that a man who cannot score with the feminine sex in the game of hearts is a pretty poor stick and cannot be expected to score in any other game.

For the Nerve
The married men further state that they would like to see the color of the flags which they won from the single men last year but which have never been forthcoming. In order to make the match a trifle more even Dr. S. D. Buckmaster, surgeon of the club, has prepared a special nerve tonic for the single men and they can secure a liberal dose of the tonic by calling at J. P. Baker's drug store tomorrow morning.

On the other hand, the bachelors are looking wise and saying little. They claim that it is only natural that men who are accustomed to having to hold their tongues on almost every subject under the sun should go to extremes when they get the chance and the bachelors are too generous to deprive them of the luxury of talking as much as they want to in this instance. Moreover the bachelors know that their good right arms are in better training inasmuch as they get better and more varied exercise and they feel that when called upon they can demonstrate publicly as well as privately their ability to hold their own.

The outcome of the match is being awaited with interest. The best players of the club will take part and it is expected that the two teams will line up as follows:

The Players.
Married Men—
H. G. Carter, C. C. MacLennan, O. Sutherland, J. P. Baker, H. S. McGinnis, Charles Schaller, Wilson Lane, Frank Schaller, C. P. McLennan, Ed. Baumann, P. H. Jackman, H. H. Hild, Harry McNamara, Charles H. Glaze, C. Grant, Charles L. Einfeld, John G. Rexford, Frank Faroworth, H. J. Connelbach, Arthur Stricker, James C. Pace, W. S. Taggart.
Single Men—
Al. Schaller, H. H. McKinney, Leo Russell, J. J. Baker, Charles Dunn, S. D. Tallman, Burns Brown, George Brownell, E. A. Hagen, Edward Peterson, Ross Klug, Fred Shindler, Herbert Goldin, Mark Bostwick, A. M. Valentine, Bernard Palmer, Harry Haggart, Harry Atwood, Leo Wilson, Graham Galbraith, W. D. Hlabon, P. J. Fleury.

Tallman Wins
The disputed match in the semi-finals for the Richardson medal between S. D. Tallman and George Baumann has finally been settled by their playing another match, which resulted in a victory for Tallman, who was four up at the finish. This leaves Tallman and Albert Schaller, the scratch player of the club and the present holder of the medal to play the finals for the trophy on Tuesday afternoon. Tallman has a handicap of eleven strokes over Schaller, five in one round and six in the other which is a great advantage. Schaller is picked to win and in case he does it will be the second time that he has defeated all of the best players in the club.

The next match with an outside team will be that with Madison on Saturday, the 13th. The contest will be at eighteen holes and in all probability there will be about fifteen players on a side. A meeting of the Maple Bluff club was held in Madison on Friday and a team to represent the club selected. R. S. Kraft was elected captain. It is expected that there will be thirty of the visitors and they will represent the best players in the city.

New Dressing Rooms
The Sinsissippi club has made a very desirable improvement in the club house by the addition of a gentlemen's dressing room, fitted with closets, lavatory and shower bath. The improvement cost something over $100 and the amount was raised by popular subscription among the members. Wilson Lane had charge of the enterprise and it is largely due to his energy that the improvement was made. The club house is now about as complete and well equipped as any club house in the state outside of Milwaukee. Each year sees some improvement in the club house and grounds, until now they compare favorably with any in the state.

The First To Be Conducted Under the New Certification Law—
Those in Attendance.

Rock county's annual institute for teachers opened a three weeks' session at the Janesville High School building this morning at 9 o'clock. The institute is under the personal supervision of County Superintendent David Thron and William Ross and is the first one to be held under the new state certification law. It is the first institute in which first and second grade branches are taught.

The enrollment of this morning's session was seventy-four and the arrivals this afternoon raised the registration to nearly one hundred. Last year the total registration was about 135 and it is expected that the attendance this year will be larger. The largest county institute was held here three years ago when the number in attendance was over 170.

The institute conductor is Prof. George C. Schutte, of the Whitewater Normal school, who is assisted by Principal Charles Hemmingsway of Albany, and Miss Minnie Hayward of Evansville. Miss Hayward was appointed in place of Miss Harriette Holt, who resigned some time ago.

The opening session was devoted principally to organization, but from this time on the regular work of the institute will be pursued. County Supts. Ross and Thron will have general charge of the institute and will instruct the teachers in school law. Prof. Schutte will have charge of the classes in agriculture, primary readings and literary readings. Principal Loveland will take the classes in school management, geography and manual. Principal Hemmingsway will teach composition and English history and Miss Hayward will conduct the classes in library work and American literature.

ANOTHER HEARING FOR HAHN

Ohio Supreme Court to Decide Priority of Nash's Warrant.

Mansfield, Ohio, July 14.—Another hearing will be given William M. Hahn, ex-state insurance commissioner, in the circuit court this week. Following the circuit court decision the case will be taken to the Ohio supreme court for a final rendering on the priority of Gov. Nash's warrant for extradition to New York over the local warrant on which the defendant is under arrest here. While he has been at his suburban home, near the city, since his release from the county jail, Hahn has been under the surveillance of the sheriff, who, from the conflict of opinion of counsel and various orders, seems to be at a loss regarding what he should do.

LARGE BLAST AT THE CITY QUARRY

IT WAS MOST SUCCESSFUL

25,000 Yards of Rock Displaced by 1,150 Pounds of Powder—The Whole Mass Came at Once.

Eleven hundred and fifty pounds of combined dynamite and powder were used at the city crushing plant on Sunday to displace 25,000 yards of stone. This is the largest charge ever used in this part of the country and the work was entirely successful.

Large Mass of Rock
All material in the quarry available under contract had been exhausted save this mass of ledge stone, 125 feet long, 80 feet wide and 50 feet deep. The only method which could have been used with the tools which had previously been employed in the quarry would have been to have attacked the rock little by little with small drills, blasting out small sections of rock about ten feet deep. Working along high up on the face of the ledge in this manner the operation would have been hazardous in the extreme.

No Alternative
The council committee considered the situation carefully and decided that although such an extensive operation had never been tried before in any of the quarries near here, the only plan which would not involve great danger to the workmen was that which was carried through Sunday. The blast was considerable of an experiment and more or less doubt was entertained as to its success, but there seemed to be no alternative.

Steam Drills Used
Five holes of five and one-half inches in diameter and forty-seven feet deep were drilled with steam drilling machinery in the rock. The work, which was done by Brilerly & Caldwell, was completed for use on Sunday. Each hole was loaded with three charges, the first of dynamite, the second of dynamite and powder and the third of dynamite. The theory of this combination is that dynamite works down and the powder up, so that used together it is capable of very even and powerful work. In all one thousand pounds of dynamite were used and two hundred and fifty pounds of plant blasting powder. The charges were operated by half pound nitro glycerine fuse caps, set off by an electric battery. The wiring was done by City Electrician Klein.

Successful Blast
The blast was made on Sunday, with about twenty-five persons present, including the three members of the city council committee. As the charge went off the rock rose slowly and easily from its place with a sound more like the rumble of an earthquake than the louder explosion of a smaller amount of powder. A mass of stone occupying about the space of a good-sized two-story store frontage and a depth of 125 feet was displaced. All who were concerned in the work are enthusiastic over the success of the experiment.

Enough stone has been loosened to provide for a couple of seasons' work, many of the pieces of rock being so large that it will be necessary to attack them in the usual way. One person, who was speaking of the blast said that he had never seen one that went off so evenly and slowly. There was no scattering of stone, but the whole mass rose and fell together.

BELOIT STUDENT DIVES TO DEATH

HE WAS DROWNED QUICKLY

Only One of Five Companions Attempted Rescue, Although He Said He Could Not Swim.

With the words "Here goes," Fred S. Caton, the son of an Aurora, Ill., clergyman, dived from an ice chute at Beloit to his death Sunday afternoon. He had been perching freely and on entering the water was probably taken with a cramp. His statement that he was unable to swim is discredited by some, as he inquired for the deepest hole before he dived off. A companion who attempted to rescue him was almost pulled under the water by the drowning boy's struggles and gave up the attempt.

A Beloit Student
Fred S. Caton, who was about twenty years old, attended Beloit college academy during the past year. This summer, at the close of school, he entered the Fairbanks, Morse & Co. works and a short time ago left that concern to work in the draughting room of the Berlin Works.

A Sunday Swim
Sunday afternoon as he started for the river with five others, it is said that he made the remark to one of them that it was the first time that he had ever gone to the water on Sunday.

Strangled Rescuer
Arriving at the ice house, on the west side of the river, he asked where the deepest hole was and then with the statement that he could not swim, he leaped off. Whether that statement is true or whether he was seized by cramps is not known. One of his companions leaped in to help him but was grasped by the dying man so that he was unable to make a stroke and was being dragged under before he could wrench himself free. The others were too stupefied to do anything.

Body Recovered
Shortly after Caton went under for the last time a boat was brought by Will Moses who dived into the water several times before he found the body, which was then drawn up by the aid of a boat hook. Efforts were made to resuscitate him, but it was too late.

Father Comes
The body was taken to Rau & McLean's undertaking rooms where it was kept until the arrival of Rev. Caton today from Aurora.

"THELMA" ON THE STAGE.
A book, to be presented on the stage exactly as written, would take as long to produce as it does to read it; the work of the dramatist is therefore a difficult one and unless his skill be great in the changing of details of time and place and in the cutting out of that which will not interest and in the building up of that which is bound to please, his play is liable to be a disappointment to the readers who have made a close study of the original story. Chas. W. Chase, who has made the dramatic version of Marie Corelli's "Thelma" is said to have been unusually successful in this play and to have given to the stage an exceedingly real and pretty plot.

Of all of Miss Corelli's famous novels, "Thelma" has for many years been the most popular with her American readers; it is not a tale of ordinary fiction, but a story of genuine heart interest, of love, devotion, suffering and happiness told by one of the greatest word-painters of the present day. Norway, called in the summer time "The Land of the Midnight Sun" and during the winter "The Land of the Long Shadow," with its magnificent scenery and quaint people, many of whom still believe in the old Norse mythology and follow the teachings of Odin and Thor, afforded her an excellent opportunity to break away from the hackneyed style and localities of the majority of the modern tales and the result was an original creation of novelty and beauty.

The same may be said of the play. It is totally unlike any other drama now being produced on the stage. The first, second and last acts are all laid in Northern Norway and the customs and the habits of the people who live there have never before been made the subjects of the drama.

The exterior of the old bondman's home near the Alten Fjord shown in the first act in the summer time, with its beautiful foliage glowing in the sun, which at midnight still shines resplendently in the heavens and in the last act pictured as it appears in during the winter, mantled in snow, devoid of vegetation and without light save that which is derived from the Aurora Borealis gives to the scenic artist a chance to paint such as could not be found in any other latitude of the inhabited world and Manager Benedict gave to both electrician and artist the opportunity to do all they could devise for these scenes; the result of which is said to be two creations of beauty such as seldom have been offered to the public. The snow avalanche in act four which is produced by means of electricity has been pronounced one of the most realistic of all modern stage novelties.

Njodgorze, the most famous waterfall of Norway is also shown in act two. The scenery was painted from original photographs of the actual scenes. The production is therefore one of educational interest and should commend itself to the interest of our best theatre-goers of whose patronage we believe it to be worthy. "Thelma" will be produced at the Myers Grand on July 25.

TO BUILD ART PALACES.

Chicago Firm Gets the Contract for A Million Dollar Exposition Structure.

World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis, July, 12.—Goldie Construction Company of Chicago has been awarded the contract for the construction of the Art Palaces of the Exposition for $945,127.50. The buildings while generally spoken of as one are in fact three distinct structures and the estimate of cost was $1,000,000. The lowest bid, that of the Goldie Company, who are building the Palace of Electricity, was $38,000 in excess of the estimate. Modifications have been made by Cass Gilbert of New York, the architect, so as to bring the cost within the estimate. The site of these splendid buildings is on a plateau, sixty feet above the general level of the main group of exposition buildings. Originally it was intended that these buildings should be a part of the central exposition picture, but in the development of the plan a highly ornate festival hall with rich green, screens and sculptures flanking either side has been given a place at the brow of the hill and the Art Palaces will stand 125 farther to the southwest. The Art Palaces have a total frontage in the southeast facade of 835 feet. The middle building is 340 by 166 feet and is of the most substantial and enduring fire-proof construction. This building will contain a magnificent hall for statuary, the dimensions being 157 by 94 feet, with an arched ceiling 51 feet high. Art galleries will have places on either side of the sculpture hall. Metallic stairways will lead to studios, offices and work rooms; packing and storage rooms in the basement. The two Art pavilions on either side are of temporary construction each being 200 by 422 feet in size. Each will stand 44 feet from the central building. A court 530 by 262 feet south of the central building, enclosed on three sides, will receive a rich decoration in landscape effects and will be one of the many delightful resting places to be found in the Exposition. The Art group is designed in a graceful, well proportioned Ionic style, accentuated at the main entrance of the center building by a Corinthian order of majestic proportions. The lighting of the buildings will be principally from clear story windows so that the entire interior side-wall space may be available for pictures.

Among the Modern Terrors.
"Where is that brass band?" inquired the man who was hunting an eligible flat.

"That isn't a brass band," answered the agent of the apartment house. "That's a phonograph on the floor above."

"Come, Hester," said the other, hastily, to his wife. "We'll go and look at some other building."—Chicago Tribune.

A Persistent Old Settler.
"He's one of the old settlers, isn't he?"

"Yes. One of the most persistent old settlers we have."

"What do you mean? That he persists in hanging on?"

"No. I mean that he persists in settling. He has settled for from ten to 20 cents on the dollar after no less than five failures, and he'll do it again if he gets a chance."—Chicago Post.

Millionaires in the Militia.
The Twelfth New York regiment, now in camp up the Hudson near Peekskill, has among its lieutenants Cornelius Vanderbilt and Henry Rogers Winthrop, who are worth, respectively, $7,500,000 and $6,000,000. The two young millionaires sleep on cots in tents, drink their coffee out of their tin cups in the morning and eat off tin plates and declare they enjoy it to the limit.

Nothing Impossible With Morgan.
An "eminent German authority" on transportation questions declares that the Morgan syndicate cannot meet its engagements. It is too heavily overcapitalized. It must double the earnings of the two great German lines in order to fulfill the terms of its contract—which the expert considers "impossible." Doubtful things are uncertain, but here in America we grow reticent in talking about "impossibilities" in connection with Mr. Morgan's financial projects.

Keeps All His Letters.
Pension Commissioner Ware has made it a practice all his life to preserve his letters. In his office at Topeka he has a great letter file containing more than 25,000 letters of a private character and another file containing about as many of a business character. He has these letters indexed in such a manner that he can turn instantly to anyone of them by name, date or subject matter.

Reviving Worship of Greek Gods.
An aged Athenian professor, now living in retirement on a pension, has become a convert from Christianity to the religion of his classic ancestors. He transformed a room into a temple, has set up two statues of Juno and Mercury before which he sings and prays and has erected an altar, on which he now and then offers up sacrifices.

Green and Black Tea.
The difference of color between green tea and black tea depends on the fact that the first is obtained from leaves dried as soon as they are gathered, while in the case of the black tea the leaves are allowed to ferment before drying. Black tea, therefore, contains much less tannin than green.

Dog Brings Up Chickens.
Cats have been known to "mother" chickens, but it is somewhat rare to find a dog displaying similar tendencies. Fritz, an intelligent terrier in a suburban family, was observed to adopt a half-grown brood of chickens that had been left to scratch for themselves by the mother hen.—Boston Transcript.

Mercury and Potash

ONLY SERVE AS A MASK FOR CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

They hide its repulsive form, and this serpent disease, stupefied by these drugs, lies dormant until the effects have worn off or treatment is discontinued, when it breaks down the mask and becomes as full of life and venom as ever. Mercury and Potash may dry up the sores and eruptions, but at the same time they drive the poison back into the blood and system, where it feeds upon the tender tissues, membranes and nerves, finally breaking out in most disgusting sores and even destroying the flesh and bones.

Mercury and Potash cannot accomplish a radical and permanent cure. They have a palliative but not curative effect upon this treacherous snake-like disease. These drugs produce mercurial rheumatism, destroy the teeth and corrode the membranes of the stomach and bowels, causing inflammation and dyspepsia, nervousness and general derangement of the system.

S. S. S. is a Specific for Contagious Blood Poison, and the only antidote for the peculiar virus that spreads so quickly throughout the system, corrupting the blood and infecting every organ and fibre of the body.

S. S. S. destroys the serpent, and eliminates every atom of poison from the blood, it makes a thorough and radical cure of the disease, and at the same time builds up the general health. S. S. S. contains no minerals of any kind, but is a purely vegetable remedy and we offer $1.00 for proof to the contrary.

Write us about your case and our physicians will cheerfully advise without charge. Our home treatment book will be sent free to all who desire it.
